BELGRADE MAY JOIN RUSSIA AND TURKEY IN NEUTRALITY PACT

Belief Expressed in Informed Quarters in Capital That Declaration Proposed by Soviet Union and Ignored by Regent Prince Paul, Ousted Last Week With the Cvetkov Government That Signed the Axis Three-Power Treaty, Could Have Important Psychological Effect on Critical Relations With Germany

FORMAL EVACUATION OF GERMAN NATIONALS IS COMPLETED; ULTIMATUM EXPECTED HOURLY

Belgrade, April 1.—(P)—Government circles said today Yugoslavia's new government was seriously considering joining Soviet Russia and Turkey in a neutrality pact.

Such a declaration was said to have been proposed by the Soviet Union, but ignored by Regent Prince Paul, who was ousted last week with the Cvetkov government that signed the Axis three-power treaty. (Russia and Turkey issued identical statements March 25 pledging each other "full and comprehensive neutrality" in the event that either was obliged to fight to defend her territory.)

Belief was expressed in informed quarters that such a declaration would have an important psychological effect on the critical relations between Germany and Yugoslavia.

Milan Gavrilovic, former Yugoslav minister to Moscow and now without portfolio in the Yugoslav cabinet, was said to have been sent to Ankara as a special envoy to discuss the question, and to be headed for Moscow.

Syrian Premier General Dusan Simovic, gradually reorganizing the country, appointed four men friendly to his regime as district governors.

Rumors which could not be confirmed said that British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and General Sir John J. Dill, chief of Britain's imperial general staff, would come here soon.

Despite German-Yugoslav tension, both countries continued to maintain relations and the opinion was expressed in some quarters that the situation might not be clarified for another 10 days.

Under circumstances suggestive of approaching armed conflict, Germany completed formal evacuation of her nationals from this country, which only a week ago she triumphantly welcomed into the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance.

NEW TYPE BOMB USED IN RAID ON CITY OF EMDEN

By the Associated Press
London, April 1.—A new type of high explosive bomb produced results which "appeared to be devastating" in a British overnight raid on the German port and industrial city Emden, the Air Ministry said today.

Five Nazi divisions — approximately 75,000 men — were reported massed on the Hungarian-Yugoslav frontier within a few hours after German Minister Viktor von Heesen left Belgrade for Berlin.

Reports were current that an ultimatum from Adolf Hitler might be expected at any moment, demanding that Yugoslavia demobilize and fulfill the treaty of alliance with the Axis which she since deposed regency government signed last Tuesday in Vienna.

The Hungarian telegraph agency said today in a dispatch from Berlin that the German foreign office had received a note from Belgrade explaining the Yugoslav government's foreign policy, but that the note did not mention the Axis pact.

Premier General Dusan Simovic, meanwhile, held the Yugoslav army of 1,200,000 men ready for instant action, and there were indications his government had strengthened its position by reaching an agreement with discontented Croat elements.

Reports from Zagreb said Vladimir Macek, the Croat leader who has been seeking assurances that the new government would respect the interests of the big minority he represents, had reached an understanding with Simovic and would remain in the cabinet as vice premier.

It was understood Macek would return to Belgrade tomorrow to cement the agreement.

The government sought to calm the public as a wave of rumors circulated throughout the country, but took extraordinary measures to meet any emergency.

Simovic banned all public gatherings, issued orders to forestall a possible massed flight of alarmed civilians and directed state and local authorities to remain at their posts "in every case."

(Reports reaching Budapest said a number of Yugoslav army officers who previously had been retired because they opposed the Axis agreement had been reinstated.)

Measure Introduced by Delaware Senator is Drawn Up to Plug Loophole in Control Law Which Exempted Dealers From Restriction

ALIEN ACT RETURNED

By the Associated Press

Harrisburg, April 1.—By an unanimous vote of 42 to 0, the senate today passed a bill to bring sales of milk on consignment contract under price control of the State Milk Control Commission. The measure was sent to the house.

The bill, introduced by Senator Weldon B. Hayburn (R-Delaware), was drawn up to plug a loophole in the milk control law under which dealers who receive milk on consignment from producers are not subject to regulation.

The state supreme court recently ruled the state has no control over consignment sales and the United States supreme court yesterday refused to grant the milk commission a review of the case.

As the milk bill won approval, a much-debated and amended bill to bar state and local governments from hiring aliens returned to the senate floor.

The bill, introduced by Montgomery F. Crowe (R-Monroe), was restored virtually to its original form. It now would prohibit the state and its subdivisions from employing "any person who is not a citizen of the United States."

It also provides that any official who knowingly employs or retains any employee contrary to the provisions of the act would be subject to a $100 fine and 30 days in jail or both.

The house investigation of the James administration's $542,000,000 two-year budget will be completed by April 15, with final adjournment of the 1941 legislative session "in sight" before June 1, Rep. Leo A. Achtermann, the majority floor leader, said today.

This action in the house coincided with introduction of a seven-point administration program by Republicans controlling the senate.

Senator James A. Galtz, the G. O. P. leader, offered the bills, endorsed by Governor James, with the assertion that the Democrats in the house created a "hopeless bottleneck" and are determined not to pass any Republican legislation originating there.

The house devoted much of its session last night to a long debate and a roll call on the bill to legalize Sunday bowling, which failed to pass. It received 98 votes, seven short of the majority needed for (Turn to Page Nine)

While there was a considerable number of troops in the vicinity of the U. S. embassy, they were less conspicuous than at the Yugoslav legation, being drawn up mostly along side streets.

Shortly before noon, scores of schoolboys paraded through streets with big Japanese, German and Italian flags. They eventually dispersed without undue incident resulting from the display of Axis friendship for Japan, whose foreign minister, Yosuke Matsuoka, arrived here yesterday from Berlin.

New York, April 1.—(P)—Under an urgent plea by President Roosevelt for "uninterrupted operation" of the soft-coal industry, union-operator negotiations today redoubled efforts to prevent an actual walkout of 300,000 to 400,000 miners whose two-year contract expired last midnight.

None of the conference was in a talkative mood as the session between the operators and union leaders got underway. At the end of the two-hour morning session, Dr. John R. NEW TYPE BOMB USED IN RAID ON CITY OF EMDEN

By the Associated Press

London, April 1.—A new-type of high explosive bomb produced results which "appeared to be devastating" in a British overnight raid on the German port and industrial city Emden, the Air Ministry said today.

Emden also was reported heavily hit, with ship-building yards "the principal targets, but the ministry mentioned the new bombs—of their nature not announced—only in the raid on Emden.

"Masses of debris flying through the air were outlined against the glow of fires," a communiqué said in describing the effects, "and the results appeared to be devastating."

The Ministry of Information quoted a pilot as saying he saw "houses take to the air" when the bombs burst.

Smaller-scale raids were made in Bremerhaven and Oldenburg and the Nazi-held Netherlands harbor of Rotterdam.

Although London was bomb-free for the eleventh successive night, German bombers caused "considerable damage" in sharp attacks on northeast towns.

Striking at German seapower, British air units scored two bomb hits on a Nazi destroyer yesterday off the Frisian Islands, causing her to halt with a heavy list, the Air Ministry said, and raided German supply ships.

They struck, too, at gun emplacements and troops in a series of offensive actions described as "busy and successful."

Losses of British, Allied and German aircraft were not disclosed. (Turn to Page Nine)

Lima, Peru, April 1.—(P)—Shipping circles reported today that the German merchantman Friesland, 8,000 tons, in refuge at Paita, had been scuttled by its crew.

Washington, April 1.—(P)—Germany and Italy have demanded that the United States release Axis ships taken into protective custody during the week-end and also members of the crews. It was learned reliably today.

The demands were made in notes of protest lodged with the State Department by the Axis embassies late yesterday.

The State Department and the embassies alike declined to make public the contents of the notes.

It was learned from informed sources, however, that both notes demanded release of the ships and the crews.

Germany and Italy were said to have challenged the right of the United States to take possession of the ships or to take members of the crews into custody.

In neither note was there any mention of sabotage—the grounds which the government gave for taking over the ships—it was understood.

The notes were said to have disputed the right of the government to take the action under either international or domestic law.

STATE COLLEGE HOTEL HAS A COSTLY BLAZE

State College, April 1.—(P)—Thirty-one persons were driven from their rooms early today when fire of undetermined origin swept through the Allencrest restaurant and hotel in the heart of this Centre county college town.

The blaze, most serious in the community's last 17 years, caused damage estimated by Owner Claude G. Aikens at $45,000. Two firemen were hurt fighting the flames.

Discovered at 3 a. m. by an employee, the fire raged for five hours and left only the brick walls of the three and a half story structure standing. Nearby stores and apartments were damaged by water and smoke.

REPORT EIGHT REJECTED FOR ARMY SERVICE

Unofficial reports from Pittsburgh today stated that eight of the 21 Warren men who left last Saturday for induction into the army under the Selective Service act were rejected when given their final examinations yesterday.

The report stated that one of the eight men sent by Local Board No. 1 was turned down, while seven of the 13 sent by Local Board No. 2 were returned to their homes.

It was stated that the one man from Board No. 1 who was rejected is Charles C. Wetmore, of 221 Jefferson avenue, Warren.

Those from Board No. 2 who failed to pass the required examination, according to the unofficial report, are Frank W. Latt, Sheffield; Samuel A. Mead, R. D. 1, Bear Lake; John Natale, Youngs-lars; Paul T. Kujava, Sheffield; Lars A. Christensen, R. D. 2, Corry; Thomas F. Milev, Sheffield, and Harry C. Pillsbury, Pittsburgh.

The thirteen men who passed their examinations were sent to Fort Meade, Md., for reassignment.

Members of the two local draft boards today were awaiting official notice from the Pittsburgh induction station before announcing the replacements for those who were rejected. It is expected that the replacements will be sent with the April 10 contingent.

As a result of the large number of rejections so far, it was stated today that physicians are re-checking the examination sheets of men liable for induction from the local draft boards. In cases where there is some doubt concerning the men's ability to pass the tests at the induction center, a re-examination will be given here.

Those from the March 29 group who were sent to Fort Meade included: John P. Gettines, William E. Adams, Frederick L. Lindell, John E. Eagan, Franklin L. Hills, Lewis C. Spinner and Harry Miller, from Local Board No. 1; Donald D. Gruber, Edward P. Bosko, William E. Knapp, Frank J. Jeschke, Ralph E. Johnson and James E. Farr, from Local Board No. 2.

"Honeymoon For Three"
The Library's happy new comedy hit, "Honeymoon For Three," opens Wednesday and Thursday. Ann Sheridan and George Brent are co-starring in the lacy story of a novelist whose favorite subject is women, and the secretary who finally straightens him out.

Also featured in the cast are Charlie Ruggles, Osa Massen, Jane Wymann, William Orr, Lee Patrick, Walter Catlett and many others. Lloyd Bacon directed the production. Earl Baldwin wrote the screen play from the play by Allen Scott and George Haight. "Arkansas Judge"

Irving Stone's prebuckling novel, "Fidel Witmas," has been deftly brought to the screen by Republic in "Arkansas Judge," which opens at the Library Theatre Wednesday and Thursday with the Weaver Brothers and Elvira, champions of homespun philosophy, in the leading roles. Although rippling with fun and humor throughout, the film without being preachy, delivers a lesson which should be taken home by every man, woman and child who often with innocent intent lightly repeats unsubstantiated gossip.

Also featured in the cast are Charlie Ruggles, Osa Massen, Jane Wyman, William Orr, Lee Patrick, Walter Catlett and many others. Lloyd Bacon directed the production. Earl Baldwin wrote the screen play from the play by Allen Scott and George Haight. "Arkansas Judge"

Irving Stone's penetrating novel, "False Witness," has been deftly brought to the screen by Republic in "Arkansas Judge," which opens at the Library Theatre Wednesday and Thursday with the Weaver Brothers and Elvira, champions of homespun philosophy, in the leading roles. Although rippling with fun and humor throughout, the film without being preachy, delivers a lesson which should be taken home by every man, woman and child who often with innocent intent—lightly repeats unsubstantiated gossip.

I. O. O. F. MEETING AT SHARON TO ATTRACT MANY

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of 13 northwestern Pennsylvania counties, including Warren, will hold their semi-annual meeting in Sharon on May 17 in conjunction with the 100th anniversary of the founding of that city, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

More than 200 subordinate lodges, Encampments, Rebekah lodges, Junior Order of Odd Fellows and Theta Rho girls' clubs, the junior women's branch of the order, will be represented at the afternoon and evening programs.

Lodges from Cameron, Clarion, Clearfield, Crawford, Elk, Erie, Forest, Jefferson, McKean, Mercer, Potter, Venango and Warren counties will be represented.

THE FELLOWSHIP OF PRAYER

TUESDAY, APRIL 1. "What shall we say to these things? If God be for us, who can be against us?" Read Romans 8:31-39.

What things? St. Paul might have been reading this morning's newspaper: tribulation, distress, persecution, famine, nakedness, peril, the sword. Fundamentally we have no answer but his—"If God be for us."

He never left the answer in the air. We must, he said, be on God's side and he traced God's side, through the whole life. God is not for cowards, nor the unloving, nor the cruel, nor the ruthlessly proud; nor the evil wills, nor ill wills, nor for the morally blind. Their causes are foredoomed. But where unselfish love is and humble goodness is, where creative faith and passion for the right are, and hope which refuses to surrender and the readiness to overcome evil with good and the sign of the Cross and the vision of a Christian order and a passion to secure it, there God is, and who can be against us? "These things" have found their answer.

PRAYER: O Lord, Strength of our lives, our sure defense and our answer to the challenges of any evil, grant unto us so to be established both by faith and obedience in all those ways upon which Thy favor rests that, since we are with Thee, they cannot separate us from Thy love which is in Jesus Christ. Amen.

Hoaxes That Made Headlines—and History

Great moon hoax, 1941 style: As an April Fool's Day stunt, the Hayden Planetarium of the American Museum of Natural History, New York City, took its audience on a "rocket trip" to the moon as it really is, cold and lifeless. This scene is by Artist Tom Votter.

(April Fool's Day is the traditional time for horseplay, but the jokester is with us the year 'round. Here is a story some of the greatest hoaxes of all time.)

A Feature Service

Astronomy was the rage in the 1830s. Everyone who could afford a telescope spent his evenings peering at the sky, astronomical societies and amateur publications were without number. And the situation was just right for one of the most celebrated hoaxes of history—the moon hoax.

In August of 1834, the old New York Sun began a series of staidly written but sensational articles about "new and remarkable observations of the moon" by Sir John Herschel, a British astronomer of good reputation.

With a perfectly straight face, the Sun quoted what it said was a "Supplement to the Edinburgh Journal of Science." This remarkable document told how Sir John had been commissioned to go to the Cape of Good Hope to observe a transit of mercury and took the opportunity to test a 24-foot lens telescope he had built, with a microscope attached to the eyepiece.

The results were stupendous! clear and sharp, the surface of the moon appeared as though it was only 3 feet away.

The story described mountains of huge solid crystals and amethysts, and a race of beings something like men.

On another continent the telescope found an improved race of near-humans which had built a huge tower, apparently a temple, of sapphires and a yellowish metal.

They spent their time frolicking on the grass and eating fruit.

For further details, the Sun referred the reader to a full account by Sir John himself, leaving only a hint that some of the other amusements of the moon people were not "within the bounds of strict propriety."

The whole thing was phony. It was written from start to finish by Richard Adams Locke, a reporter on the Sun, but phony or not, it boosted the Sun's circulation 50,000. The story was translated into almost every foreign language of the civilized world and created a sensation everywhere. Sir John issued a denial, but for years afterwards people wrote to the Sun asking for copies.

Strictly speaking, a hoax is a joke for the joke's sake—not a swindle. Of the true practical jokes, probably the most famous is known as the Dreadnought hoax.

This was staged by a group of Cambridge students who disguised themselves as "the Emperor of Abyssinia" and his entourage. They notified the commander of the British cruiser Dreadnought that the emperor would inspect the ship.

The commander, a cousin of one of the hoaxers, and the entire crew were taken in completely. The trick never would have been discovered if the costumer hadn't used the hoaxers' picture in an advertisement.

The Cambridge boys had history.

ical example for their joke. In 1812 a glamorous lady, calling herself the Princess Cariboo arrived at the port of Bristol, England, with a big crew of servants and a private cook who prepared all kinds of trick "Oriental dishes." She took a suite at the White Lion inn, dished out tips to all the employees in gold pieces and induced the proprietor to cash a £1,000 order on a Calcutta bank.

She said she had come to establish relations with King George between England and her tiny but wealthy nation in the Far East. Courtiers flocked to win her favor, and she was the sensation of the country. The London Mirror had a special type cut which it said was in her language.

Bristol's small boys seem to have had better instincts. They tagged after her in the streets singing, "Boo! hoo! hoo! and who's the Princess Cariboo?" While geographers still were trying to figure out exactly where the princess' country was, she "left for London" with some £10,000 in cash and presents and was never heard of again.

The princess, in her turn, may have operated from the example set by "Riza Bey, the Persian envoy," who swindled King Louis XV of France. Riza Bey landed at Marseilles in 1687, proceeded to the palace at Versailles in splendor and was entertained as befit the man opening diplomatic relations between France and the magnificent land of the east.

He was showered with gifts, speaking grandly meanwhile of a shipload of presents on its way from the Shah. Every few days one of his servants was "sent away on a mission." Finally the ambassador slipped away too—with the last of Louis' gifts. The presents from the Shah never arrived, and nobody ever found out who the ambassador was.

A COMMUNICATION

Warren, Pennsylvania, March 31, 1941.
Editor, Times-Mirror,
Warren, Pennsylvania,
Dear Mr. Lowrey:

May we express to you our agreement with the editorial published in today's Times-Mirror, regarding the proposed law to prohibit high school bands from appearing in public outside the school buildings? We are in hearty accord with your expressions that such a law would work a hardship on such school organizations.

The basis for such a law is, of course, that it is unfair for musical organizations of schools, tax-supported, to take engagements which might otherwise result in paid employment of professional or semi-professional adult musicians. While there may be sound reasons for supporting this view, it nevertheless seems unnecessary to pass a law to prevent such competition—a law which cannot help but work a hardship on the young musician and prevent his getting musical experience which will make him a better performer in adult life.

We believe the matter can be regulated better as it is done in this vicinity by the school authorities and school band directors; they simply do not accept engagements which might be competitive or deprive musicians of wages. To pass the law you describe could only result in handicapping the school organizations without any benefits which could not be attained by common sense and cooperation.

May we also express again our interest in and support of the local school musical organizations, and our backing of the school authorities in their sponsorship of these activities?

Yours truly,
Executive Committee,
Veterans of Foreign Wars Band,
Warren, Pennsylvania.

Workers in Rural Areas Are Urged To Register With State Employment Service

Register now with the local office of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service for your area, Ernest Kelly, executive director, Bureau of Employment and Unemployment Compensation, urges workers in rural and remote communities in the state. He explained that a nation-wide registration of available workers is being conducted by the United States Employment Service through cooperating state services, as a part of the national defense program. Mr. Kelly pointed out that in this registration, to insure needed workers to carry on the defense program, farm labor is just as important as industrial labor. Moreover, he said, that many workers located in rural areas also have training and experience needed in defense industries. The local employment office can refer workers to available job openings anywhere in the state or in other states, since it is in touch with all the state employment offices in the country.

Mr. Kelly made it clear that persons who register may not immediately find jobs waiting for them. He explained that the present registration has been undertaken so that national defense officials may know how many and what kinds of workers are available throughout the country for jobs or training in defense occupations and, therefore, how to plan necessary defense production. He said, however, that the registration serves two direct purposes. It enables the employment service to reach the unemployed workers as soon as there is a job for him and it makes possible for defense industries and other enterprises in the country to get in touch with suitable workers when they need them.

The registration will also bring to the attention of the employment service men and women who may be available for training in one of the many vocational training programs which have been set up throughout the country to help promote people for jobs in defense industries. Complete information about these training programs can be obtained from the local state employment office.

Mr. Kelly has previously called upon every unemployed person in Pennsylvania who can hold a job and every worker experienced in one of the following trades, but not now employed at that trade, to register with his local office of the state employment service: In aircraft manufacturing—airplane sheet metal workers, woodworkers, and inspectors in shipbuilding—ship carpenters, loftsmen, boatbuilders, shipfitters, caulkers, marine machinists, and aeronautical engineers; in machine shops and machinery manufacturing—machinists, tool makers, lathe operators, die makers, and tool designers.

The employment service does not encourage or desire workers who are employed in any of the above industries to register.

The location and office hours of itinerant employment service points in Youngsville are 2 p. m. to 3 p. m. on Thursdays, and Sheffield are 1:30 p. m. to 3 p. m. on Wednesdays, according to D. W. Levine, manager of the local Pennsylvania State Employment Office located at Warren Land Co. building, 225 Pennsylvania avenue, W. Warren, Pa.

Workers in Rural Areas Are Urged To Register With State Employment Service

Register now with the local office of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service for your area, Ernest Kelly, executive director, Bureau of Employment and Unemployment Compensation, urges workers in rural and remote communities in the state. He explained that a nation-wide registration of available workers is being conducted by the United States Employment Service through cooperating state services, as a part of the national defense program. Mr. Kelly pointed out that in this registration, to insure needed workers to carry on the defense program, farm labor is just as important as industrial labor. Moreover, he said, that many workers located in rural areas also have training and experience needed in defense industries. The local employment office can refer workers to available job openings anywhere in the state or in other states, since it is in touch with all the state employment offices in the country.

Mr. Kelly made it clear that persons who register may not immediately find jobs waiting for them. He explained that the present registration has been undertaken so that national defense officials may know how many and what kinds of workers are available throughout the country for jobs or training in defense occupations and, therefore, how to plan necessary defense production. He said, however, that the registration serves two direct purposes. It enables the employment service to reach the unemployed workers as soon as there is a job for him and it makes possible for defense industries and other enterprises in the country to get in touch with suitable workers when they need them.

The registration will also bring to the attention of the employment service men and women who may be available for training in one of the many vocational training programs which have been set up throughout the country to help promote people for jobs in defense industries. Complete information about these training programs can be obtained from the local state employment office.

Mr. Kelly has previously called upon every unemployed person in Pennsylvania who can hold a job and every worker experienced in one of the following trades, but not now employed at that trade, to register with his local office of the state employment service: In

CLEANUP TIME NEAR

Soon thousands of American communities, including those in Warren county, will inaugurate their annual cleanup campaigns. Those campaigns give all towns a chance to achieve two highly important goals—a more attractive and a safer place in which to live.

A properly managed cleanup drive helps to lessen the ever-present danger of fire. Vacant lots are mowed and divested of litter. Old shacks are torn down. Buildings are repaired and painted. Dead trees and bushes are cut down. And then what happens? The fire hazards disappear. Order and cleanliness are among fire's most effective enemies.

This year the headquarters of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce is distributing fire prevention material to its members. Local insurance agents will likewise be given the material, and will take active part in making the cleanup campaign successful.

Here is a real opportunity in which every town, no matter how small, can participate. Every citizen should co-operate. It's a rare town indeed which doesn't contain eyesores—rattletrap buildings, long unoccupied, lots on which grass will again grow knee high this summer, accumulations of junk and refuse which belongs in an incinerator, lines of broken fences, etc.

Cleanup Week need not be expensive. The combination of a little paint, plus plenty of elbow grease, will work wonders in many cases.

Plan now to participate in the cleanup campaign in Warren this spring.

SHIP SEIZURES

Italian sabotage aboard Fascist merchant ships in American ports, according to DeWitt MacKenzie, Associated Press foreign writer, is a natural corollary to the attitude adopted by the Axis at the time of the passage of the lend-lease bill—the claim that the United States had to all intents and purposes entered the war on the side of Britain.

This sabotage is merely a further indication that the Axis—and it simplifies matters if one doesn't forget that Herr Hitler is the Axis—intends to pursue the course which seems most profitable, irrespective of relations with this country.

With that understanding of the position, it is logical to take the sabotage as fair warning of more to come, MacKenzie thinks. There is no reason to assume that the present war will deviate in this respect from the World War, when this country was swept with German sabotage of all sorts prior to our entry into the conflict. The idea was to hamstring industry and shipping, thus hampering us in preparing for possible war ourselves, and impeding aid which the Allies were getting from America.

It has been made clear that this country is full of spies and fifth column agents who are prepared to strike as the signals come from their chiefs. The fact that the present sabotage is directed at Axis property in our ports doesn't alter the complexion of the situation.

The Nazis have declared that American aid will not be permitted to reach Britain, no matter what the cost. In this connection it should be borne in mind, MacKenzie reminds, that this is the critical moment of the war when Hitler especially wants to keep help from Britain while he is expending every ounce of his energy in a supreme effort to knock her out completely.

The untimely death of Harris J. Bixler at Johnsonburg Saturday, brings a sense of personal loss, not only to his business associates, his community, but to a wide circle of acquaintances throughout the 28th Congressional district, which he represented for three terms. Many in Warren remember him for his courteous, kindly and affable personality.

Lent is the time some people swear off the same things they swore off on New Year's.

If you have escaped the April first pranksters up to this time chances are you can make it through to midnight without being caught off guard.

Although a little belated, congratulations are extended those high school musicians who earned high honor for Warren by their performances at Clarion last Friday!

YOUR NATION'S CAPITOL

By Peter Edson
The Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

Step Up, Folks Pay Your Saw-book and Watch Capital Society Spurge for Red Cross and Pan Americanism

Washington, April 1.—It was hot news in Rio de Janeiro, throughout Brazil, up and down Latin America from Agua Caliente to Terra del Fuego, and the cables were burned up with glowing descriptions of the affair at high rates per word.

It was big society news in Washington, for the 400 of the capital's women of the upper diplomatic and official social crusts were there.

It was pleasing news to the United States Office for Co-Ordination of Commercial Relations between the American Republics, though Nelson Rockefeller had nothing to do with it.

It was good news to the American Red Cross, for the 400 paid $10 a head to see the show, thus netting $4000 for sweet charity.

To the world at large, however, it was just another benefit, so the news may have escaped you that Her Excellency Senhora Carlos Martins and His Excellency Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary Martins opened up the big three-story limestone palace which is the Brazilian embassy in Washington the other afternoon.
Anyone who had a sawbook and knew about the affair could buy a ticket and be admitted.

You were bowed out of your cab by a colored footman in high hat and long blue coat. The door was opened by a young man in afternoon clothes who gave you a fishy eye until you showed your ticket, then smiled you in. The cards were taken by a lady secretary, who tore off and returned the coupon for the hat and suit raffle, later.

You checked your hat with gray-haired matrons at the right, then up a few steps to a big reception hall. Butlers in tails and white ties directed you to a temporary bar in the big treasure room on the left, filled with Brazilian and Oriental stajuary and paintings and hundreds of object d'art in glass cases.

Then up a big wide semi-circular staircase, and at the head of the stairs a butler asked your name, mispronounced it (I became Hudson) and presented you to the Senhora herself—"chica," smiling and brumet in a flowered dress.
The hostess, with her big iron-gray ambassador husband beside her, who furnished the house and the cocktails and the little sandwiches and little cakes and champagne and music, and let the Red Cross have all the gross. It said so on the tickets.

In the balcony hall, overlooking the stairs, photographers and the newspaper society gals, jostling down who arrived and what she wore. While the hostess stood by and saw a few of the guests drop and stamp out cigar butt on an oriental rug worth perhaps as much as the Red Cross take.

Off the hall, three big reception rooms, cleared of their regular furniture, filled with lined and tablets. Around the tables, 350 women. That's Mrs. Hull and Mrs.
Morganthau. And here comes Mrs.
Sumner Welles. And there—no
there—is Mrs. Wallace and Mrs.
Jones—Mrs. Jesse Jones.

Vast Glaciers, Flowers
Provide Rainier's Lure

MT. RAINIER was once the tallest peak in United States, towering some 16,000 feet above sea level. But a violent volcanic eruption blew 2000 feet off its top, reducing it to third place among
U. S. mountains.

Indian legends, which designate Mt. Rainier as the home of the Great Spirit, recall that great eruption. Minor eruptions have been recorded as late as 1870. The volcano is now dormant and observers believe future eruptions unlikely.

Snow-capped Mt. Rainier, located 55 miles southeast of Seattle, Wash., is pictured on the U. S.
2-cent stamp above, of the National Parks series. Mirror Lake, shown in the foreground of the stamp design, reflects the grandeur of the peak.

Mt. Rainier was created a national park in 1899, includes an area of 324 square miles. It is noted for 28 glaciers, covering 48 square miles, largest single accessible single peak glacier system in United States. Rainier's wealth of flowers, especially those growing between timberline and snow, form one of its greatest tourist attractions.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard and Federal Security Chief Paul V. McNutt have a new worry—the potential shortage in skilled farm labor.

I say "potential," but there are already enough straws in the wind to cause the gentlemen mentioned and their staffs to give serious consideration to the problem.

With the lend-lease bill already a law and money in the process of appropriation to finance it, it seems certain that the United States is not only going to become "the arsenal of democracy" but the breadbasket of a large portion of the embattled world. Farm products already are earmarked for Great Britain, unoccupied France, Greece and China, Spain and possibly some of the occupied countries may have to be fed before long.

So what? So those agricultural sections not burdened with excessive surpluses already are going to have to hoe a row and produce. Secretary Wickard says the groups most likely to feel the pinch of skilled labor shortage first are the dairy farmers, the poultry raisers and the big truck farmers.

Machine Farmers May Escape

THOSE who depend largely on machines for their plowing, planting and harvesting probably won't feel the pinch this year anyway. In the first place, these are predominantly the grain farmers and with huge carryovers from last year's crops and bumper crops in prospect, they will have no trouble making the machines keep ahead of the demand. With these and with the cotton growers, the problem is only one of storage space and disposal of surpluses.

With the growers and raisers of perishables, who depend so heavily on experienced manual labor, the worry is something else again.

Wickard and McNutt already have found the causes of the shortage and have determined that it is likely to get worse. First is the selective service program; second, the great demand for, and the high wages paid, semi-skilled labor in the building and manufacturing trades.

There's not a young farm worker worth his salt who can't handle a saw and hammer and most of them know enough mechanics to take their tractors, cars and farm motors apart and put them together again. As Wickard says, "That's all in any farmer's day's work." So with wages soaring at the construction and industrial centers, it has been almost impossible to keep 'em down on the farm.

No Farm Deferments

WHILE the 1917 draft took full cognizance of the need for farm labor, there was little reason for the present one to do so when many sections were weeping publicly over the excess of workers in the fields. Farm youths have had no greater consideration from the draft boards than city youths. The young farmer of today is a husky, well-educated boy and the farms of today certainly have contributed their share to the trainee army which soon will number 1,500,000 men.

Because of these factors, many farmers are finding themselves up against the sat. a problem that Secretary Wickard had to face recently. His parents were ill on the family's Carroll county, Ind., farm. Wickard wanted a young man of ability and some experience to step in and help out. And it was weeks before the Secretary of Agriculture could find a sufficiently skilled farm laborer to fill the job.

Just what is going to be done about it hasn't been determined yet. Probably the first step will be to try to get selective service to set a special deferment for farm workers, as was done in the World war. This would help, but it probably wouldn't forestall the threatened shortage if this continues to develop along present lines. After that, it may be necessary to wage a national campaign to woo farm workers back to the farms.

CLEANUP TIME NEAR

Soon thousands of American communities, including those in Warren county, will inaugurate their annual cleanup campaigns. Those campaigns give all towns a chance to achieve two highly important goals—a more attractive and a safer place in which to live.

A properly managed cleanup drive helps to lessen the ever-present danger of fire. Vacant lots are mowed and divested of litter. Old shacks are torn down. Buildings are repaired and painted. Dead trees and bushes are cut down. And then what happens? The fire hazards disappear. Order and cleanliness are among fire's most effective enemies.

This year the headquarters of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce is distributing fire prevention material to its members. Local insurance agents will likewise be given the material, and will take active part in making the cleanup campaign successful.

Here is a real opportunity in which every town, no matter how small, can participate. Every citizen should co-operate. It's a rare town indeed which doesn't contain eyesores—rattletrap buildings, long unoccupied, lots on which grass will again grow knee high this summer, accumulations of junk and refuse which belongs in an incinerator, lines of broken fences, etc.

Cleanup Week need not be expensive. The combination of a little paint, plus plenty of elbow grease, will work wonders in many cases.

Plan now to participate in the cleanup campaign in Warren this spring.

SHIP SEIZURES

Italian sabotage aboard Fascist merchant ships in American ports, according to DeWitt MacKenzie, Associated Press foreign writer, is a natural corollary to the attitude adopted by the Axis at the time of the passage of the lend-lease bill—the claim that the United States had to all intents and purposes entered the war on the side of Britain.

This sabotage is merely a further indication that the Axis—and it simplifies matters if one doesn't forget that Herr Hitler is the Axis—intends to pursue the course which seems most profitable, irrespective of relations with this country.

With that understanding of the position, it is logical to take the sabotage as fair warning of more to come, MacKenzie thinks. There is no reason to assume that the present war will deviate in this respect from the World War, when this country was swept with German sabotage of all sorts prior to our entry into the conflict. The idea was to hamstring industry and shipping, thus hampering us in preparing for possible war ourselves, and impeding aid which the Allies were getting from America.

It has been made clear that this country is full of spies and fifth column agents who are prepared to strike as the signals come from their chiefs. The fact that the present sabotage is directed at Axis property in our ports doesn't alter the complexion of the situation.

The Nazis have declared that American aid will not be permitted to reach Britain, no matter what the cost. In this connection it should be borne in mind, MacKenzie reminds, that this is the critical moment of the war when Hitler especially wants to keep help from Britain while he is expending every ounce of his energy in a supreme effort to knock her out completely.

The untimely death of Harris J. Bixler at Johnsonburg Saturday, brings a sense of personal loss, not only to his business associates, his community, but to a wide circle of acquaintances throughout the 28th Congressional district, which he represented for three terms. Many in Warren remember him for his courteous, kindly and affable personality.

Lent is the time some people swear off the same things they swore off on New Year's.

If you have escaped the April first pranksters up to this time chances are you can make it through to midnight without being caught off guard.

Although a little belated, congratulations are extended those high school musicians who earned high honor for Warren by their performances at Clarion last Friday!

The Wave of the Future

YOUR NATION'S CAPITOL

By Peter Edson

The Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

Step Up, Folks Pay Your Saw-buck and Watch Capital Society Spurge for Red Cross and Pan Americanism

Washington, April 1—It was hot news in Rio de Janeiro, throughout Brazil, up and down Latin America from Agua Caliente to Tierra del Fuego, and the cables were burned up with glowing descriptions of the affair at high rates per word.

It was big society news in Washington, for the 400 of the capital's women of the upper diplomatic and official social crusts were there.

It was pleasing news to the United States Office for Co-Ordination of Commercial Relations Between the American Republics, though Nelson Rockefeller had nothing to do with it.

It was good news to the American Red Cross, for the 400 paid $10 a head to see the show, thus netting $4000 for sweet charity.

To the world at large, however, it was just another benefit, so the news may have escaped you that Her Excellency Senhora Carlos Martins and His Excellency Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary Martins opened up the big three-story limestone palace which is the Brazilian embassy in Washington the other afternoon. Anyone who had a sawbuck and knew about the affair could buy a ticket and be admitted.

You were bowed out of your cab by a colored footman in high hat and long blue coat. The door was opened by a young man in afternoon clothes who gave you a fishy eye until you showed your ticket, then smiled you in. The cards were taken by a lady secretary, who tore off and returned the coupon for the hat and suit raffle, later.

You checked your hat with gray-haired matrons at the right, then up a few steps to a big reception hall. Butlers in tails and white ties directed you to a temporary bar in the big treasure room on the left, filled with Brazilian and Oriental statuary and paintings and hundreds of object d'art in glass cases.

Then up a big wide semi-circular staircase, and at the head of the stairs a butler asked your name, mispronounced it (I became Hudson) and presented you to the Senhora herself—"chica," smiling and brunet in a flowered dress. The hostess, with her big iron-gray ambassador husband beside her, who furnished the house and the cocktails and the little sandwiches and little cakes and champagne and music, and let the Red Cross have all the gross. It said so on the tickets.

In the balcony hall, overlooking the stairs, photographers and the newspaper society gals, jostling down who arrived and what she wore. While the hostess stood by and saw a few of the guests drop and stamp out cigar butt on an oriental rug worth perhaps as much as the Red Cross take.

Off the hall, three big reception rooms, cleared of their regular furniture, filled with lined card tables. Around the tables, 350 women. That's Mrs. Hull and Mrs. Morgenthau. And here comes Mrs. Sumner Welles. And there—there is Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Jones—Mrs. Jesse Jones.

Vast Glaciers, Flowers Provide Rainer's Lure

MT. RAINIER was once the tallest peak in United States, towering some 16,000 feet above sea level. But a violent volcanic eruption blew 2000 feet off its top, reducing it to third place among U. S. mountains.

Indian legends, which designate Mt. Rainer as the home of the Great Spirit, recall that great eruption. Minor eruptions have been recorded as late as 1870. The volcano is now dormant and observers believe future eruptions unlikely.

Snow-capped Mt. Rainer, located 55 miles southeast of Seattle, Wash., is pictured on the U. S. 3-cent stamp above, of the National Parks series. Mirror Lake, shown in the foreground of the stamp design, reflects the grandeur of the peak.

Mt. Rainer was created a national park in 1899, includes an area of 324 square miles. It is noted for 28 glaciers, covering 48 square miles, largest single accessible single peak glacier system in United States. Rainer's wealth of flowers, especially those growing between timberline and snow, form one of its greatest tourist attractions.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard and Federal Security Chief Paul V. McNutt have a new worry—the potential shortage in skilled farm labor. I say "potential," but there are already enough straws in the wind to cause the gentlemen mentioned and their staffs to give serious consideration to the problem.

With the lend-lease bill already a law and money in the process of appropriation to finance it, it seems certain that the United States is not only going to become "the arsenal of democracy" but the bread-basket of a large portion of the embattled world. Farm products already are earmarked for Great Britain, unoccupied France, Greece and China. Spain and possibly some of the occupied countries may have to be fed before long.

So what? So those agricultural sections not burdened with excessive surpluses already are going to have to hoe a row and produce. Secretary Wickard says the groups most likely to feel the pinch of skilled labor shortage first are the dairy farmers, the poultry raisers and the big truck farmers.

Machine Farmers May Escape

THOSE who depend largely on machines for their plowing, planting and harvesting probably won't feel the pinch this year anyway. In the first place, these are predominantly the grain farmers and with huge carryovers from last year's crops and bumper crops in prospect, they will have no trouble making the machines keep ahead of the demand. With these and with the cotton growers, the problem is only one of storage space and disposal of surpluses.

With the growers and raisers of perishables, who depend so heavily on experienced manual labor, the worry is something else again. Wickard and McNutt already have found the causes of the shortage and have determined that it is likely to get worse. First is the selective service program; second, the great demand for, and the high wages paid, semi-skilled labor in the building and manufacturing trades.

er worth his salt who can't handle a saw and hammer and most of them know enough mechanics to take their tractors, cars and farm motors apart and put them together again. As Wickard says, "That's all in any farmer's day's work." So with wages soaring at the construction and industrial centers, it has been almost impossible to keep 'em down on the farm.

No Farm Deferments

WHILE the 1917 draft took full cognizance of the need for farm labor, there was little reason for the present one to do so when many sections were weeping publicly over the excess of workers in the fields. Farm youths have had no greater consideration from the draft boards than city youths. The young farmer of today is a husky, well-educated boy and the farms of today certainly have contributed their share to the trainee army which soon will number 1,500,000 men.

Because of these factors, many farmers are finding themselves up against the s. e. problem that Secretary Wickard had to face recently. His parents were ill on the family's Carroll county, Ind., farm. Wickard wanted a young man of ability and some experience to get a special deferment for farm workers, as was done in the World War. This would help, but it probably wouldn't forestall the threatened shortage if this continues to develop along present lines. After that, it may be necessary to wage a national campaign to woo farm workers back to the farms.

Just what is going to be done about it, hasn't been determined yet. Probably the first step will be to try to get selective service to set a special deferment for farm workers, as was done in the World War. This would help, but it probably wouldn't forestall the threatened shortage if this continues to develop along present lines. After that, it may be necessary to wage a national campaign to woo farm workers back to the farms.

HEART'S HAVEN

Ruth Rosemary Corby

YESTERDAY: The plain truth is that Mrs. Marbury and her guests are stuck on a little island off the North Carolina coast and haven't the least idea how to get off. They want to leave, too, because some evil force is at work to injure them. And to complicate the whole matter, Eve Prentice and Gina Goodell both are interested in Brett Rodman, although each girl has attracted another, and most eligible suitor.

Chapter 19 About Suits

"WHERE were you?" Julie asked as Eve returned to her room, flushed and disheveled after a long walk around the island.

"Looking for a likely spot to send up a smoke signal," Eve's eyes were still dreamy. "Julie, do you know Brett says that the island is very old? There may even be buried treasure down by the point. He says it's an ideal spot for a pirate—near the mainland, but not too far away from . . ."

"You were with that Rodman person," said Julie in such an accusing tone that Eve's eyes opened wide. She slowly undid the scarlet ribbon that had been unable to restrain her salt air. Then, catching a glimpse of her sunburned nose in the mirror, she borrowed some of Julie's small supply of cold cream to clean up.

"He's really nice," she said placatingly. "Gina and I had a grand time going around with him. He knows so much about old places like this—and others like it."

"Oh—Gina was with you?" Julie sounded slightly mollified.

"What's the matter, darling?" Eve, wiping the cream from her face, glanced into the mirror at Julie's stiff figure, upright in the little cushion-covered chair.

"Just this," said Julie concisely. "We're stuck in this forsaken place now, but we can't be for long. Mr. Theodore Marbury is bound to get worried about his wife since a week has passed and he hasn't heard from her. Or the pilot may come to his senses and return—or someone will row out from the mainland."

"When we go back to the Ocean Park Hotel," pursued Julie thoughtfully, "we can't go on with this deception any longer. You'll meet one of—and you were lucky enough to have him become infatuated with you at the start. If you aren't engaged after a week on this practically deserted island . . ."

Eve laughed in spite of herself, her eyes looking greener than ever as she glanced at Julie in amusement.

"Deserted island?" She waved a towel at the door, indicating the hubbub of voices that could be heard in the hallway below. "If this is deserted, darling, give me a way and Forty-second Street."

"Nevertheless, you know what I mean," Julie pursued without an answering smile. "I thought, from the way Neil ran around after you, that it was just a question of time before he proposed. But if you show that you prefer the company of a—stupid person like Brett Rodman—Neil may think better of his plans."

"Brett isn't—stupid," Eve did not know what made her defend him so hastily. She only knew that at that moment she almost disliked Julie. "He's sincere and hard-working and he knows a great deal about a very difficult subject," she finished lamely.

"You don't care for Neil at all then?" Julie asked.

"Of course I do! It would be impossible not to like Neil. He's—he's just about the nicest and nicest-looking person I've ever seen," Eve confessed.

Puzzled Girl

"THEN why haven't you let him propose?" Julie demanded. At Eve's start of surprise, she shrugged and added, "Oh, I know you've kept him from it many times. It's easy enough to see how Neil feels. If you haven't answered his engagement, it must be your fault." She regarded Eve's lovely profile, downcast now, and carefully looking out of the window. She added more softly, "Don't you love him?"

"I'm not sure," Eve said, almost in a whisper. "Oh—Julie! How can I be sure? There's no reason in the world why I shouldn't love him. He's kind and generous and handsome and clever; he's everything a girl imagines the man she loves will be. But—but I always thought you knew some way, when the one man in the world is in love with you. And—and that's just the trouble. I don't know. I'm almost afraid to have him ask me to marry him. I'm—I'm afraid I'll refuse!"

"Nonsense!" Julie, thoroughly out of patience, rose from the low chair with a sudden display of temper. "If you're in any doubt, remember that you can live alone, as I have, for a long, long time. If I had seen anyone as desirable as Neil Bowron—Julie's voice lingered on the syllables as if caressing them—"it wouldn't have taken me this long to make up my mind. You're just being difficult because you think it's cute, in my opinion. But I'm rather tired of it. When we get back to Ocean Park, we'll just pick up our baggage and divide what's left of the prize money."

NEW TEXTILE AGREEMENT

Hazleton, Pa., April 1.—(P)—A new working agreement which union officials said entailed an increase in minimum wages from 32½ cents an hour to 36 cents will become effective May 1 for the 2,300 employees of the Duplan Silk Mills.

James J. Kelly, of Lansford, vice president of the Textile Workers Union of America, said members had ratified the new contract in a series of weekend meetings. The new agreement, he added, called YESTERDAY: Just about everything possible has happened to frighten the shivering group marooned on an island off the North Carolina coast. Mrs. Marbury had taken her party there to look at an old house—they have been shot at, clammy hands have grasped them, the caretakers have been inimical. Now, while the men of the party are trying to build a raft strong enough to get to the island, a smuggler's ship is being down on the island. Only the party on the island does not know—

Chapter 18 Evasive Ship

EVE and Gina went hesitantly into the kitchen, where Eve explained to Mrs. Jackson that they were going to prepare lunch for the men working down on the shore.

"No need to cook anything," the caretaker finally agreed. "There's cold ham, and plenty of bread there in the box. Pickles, too, if you want them, in the pantry. I hope the men don't expect Mr. Jackson to help them. He has enough to do."

"I'm sure he has," Gina said sarcastically, glancing out to where that overworked individual was lolling in the sun, a pipe in his mouth and his hat pulled down over his eyes.

Mrs. Jackson's eyes followed the girl's, and her face became almost purple with anger—not at her husband, Eve noted with amusement, but at Gina.

"Do you want me to make coffee?" she demanded sullenly. "Oh, no!" Eve approached the huge pot competently and tried to smile at the grim face of the caretaker. "I'll make it. And while we're at it, I'll just make some sandwiches for ourselves—then you can forget mealtime for a while."

Mrs. Jackson, far from looking pleased, seemed to become more glowering at this. But she only sniffed and the picture of injured dignity stalked from the kitchen. The girls heard her bang the door as she went through the hall.

"I was afraid to let her make the coffee," Eve giggled. "She might have put poison in it."

"I can't make out why she resents us so," Gina said, attacking the ham with more vigor than finesse. "You'd think she'd be glad to see the end of us, but she's just as resentful today, when we're really trying to make an effort to get away, as she was when we were all cooped up here by the rain."

"Maybe we've spoiled something for her by staying so long," Eve said sagely. "Perhaps it won't matter, by tonight, whether we go or stay forever."

Gina, absorbed in her carving, did not answer, and when Eve saw her perilously close to the sharp knife came, she tiptoed around the kitchen. They got through the sandwiches without mishap, however, although it took them longer and was more arduous than they had thought. Even when the breakfast was packed, they found unexpected difficulty in carrying it to the beach.

"Do—do you think they can eat all this?" Gina panted as they went along the sand. "Maybe—maybe they aren't hungry."

"They'd be just about ready to give up the raft idea and starve to death on this blasted five acres of nowhere."

Ham and Jim Drollard were less articulate, but equally glad to see them. Eve was pleased to note that Gina found time to say softly to Ham:

"You look tired, my pet. I'll bet it's the first honest work you've done in years."

Ham grinned, as delighted as if Gina had pinned a medal on his sweat-stained shirt.

"It's almost as bad as the time I ran away from home," he admitted, "and got work in a steel mill. I decided then that I'd never try manual labor again—but look at me now!"

The men washed up, after a fashion, in the calm water that lapped at the shore—as different as possible from the angry, lashing waves they had seen for the last few days. While they were setting ready, Gina and Eve spread their feast under the shade of a nearby tree and poured the coffee into tin mugs. It was great to see the food disappear, and the men had settled on the grass. They all seemed to take a zest in criticizing the way a meat and bread were cut, and a lack of variety on the menu.

"But I noticed there's nothing in an empty basket to carry back to the house," Gina said triumphantly. "As the Chinese philosopher once said: 'He who eats even the last crumb is a poor critic!'"

"What Chinese philosopher?" Ham demanded, relaxing on the sand.

"How should I know?" asked Gina. "One of them. The Chinese always say something to fit every occasion."

They all lingered for a few minutes after the meal was done, but finally Brett Rodman, with a meaning glance at the sky, reminded the men that the trees still had to be trimmed and lashed together, if they were to assemble anything that looked like a raft before darkness descended.

The girls started back to the house. There was nothing else to do, since the men were obviously unwilling to have their amateurish efforts watched. Both of them dreaded the return, because Eve knew that Julie would fret and hint broadly that she ought to be more encouraging to Neil Bowron. Gina, remembering her aunt's indignation about Uncle Theodore only the night before, tried to make the walk last longer.

"Anyone would think he was glad to get rid of me," she said. "Aunt Helen had wailed, according to her niece. 'The next time I look at an old house, he comes with me. And see how he likes being marooned in the middle of nowhere!'"

However, when they returned, Julie had persuaded Mrs. Marbury to play bridge, and had moved a table to the old but still lovely veranda. Glad of a chance for placating the two women, both Gina and Eve agreed to play, too, although their eyes strayed longingly back to the beach.

PRODUCTION OF SERVEL FIRM IS REPORTED HIGH

If the combined ice production of all the refrigerators manufactured by Servel, Inc., in the past twenty years were to be formed into one icicle a foot square it would measure 240,000 miles long, Guy O. McKinley, manager of the Manufacturers Gas Company here, said today.

"We have received in one of our communications from the manufacturers of the gas refrigerator many interesting achievements concerning the company and its product," Mr. McKinley said. "As you know this is the only refrigerator that makes ice with no moving parts in its freezing system, cannot wear out or make noise. It is a refrigerator that will stay silent, last longer."

"The giant icicle that could reach beyond the moon would weigh one trillion, four hundred and forty billion pounds. This would represent a yearly production of about 72 billion pounds. The daily production would provide a twenty-five pound piece of ice for every third family in the United States every day, winter and summer. If this were broken down into ice cubes it would cool a glass of beverage for every man, woman and child in the United States, plus one for everybody in the British Empire, including India and still have some ice cubes left over."

"Some interesting facts on the Servel factory workers show that more than 4,000 people are on the payroll. Of that number almost one-fourth have been with the company ten years or more."

"Contradicting the criticism leveled at industry that it has no place in its ranks for men forty years of age or over, a recent survey of Servel's personnel showed that about one-third of all its employees are in the forty-plus age group. Not only do the housewives play a large role in designing this great refrigerator but in the factory about five hundred women employees help make this product that women use."

Mrs. A. M. Sobel's victory in the Eastern Open Pair Championship added 40 master points to her grand total of 297, and made her the 24th Life Master. She is the second woman to have achieved this honor in bridge.

For the past few years Mrs. R. C. Young has been regarded as the No. 1 woman bridge player of the world and Mrs. Sobel No. 2, but Mrs. Sobel's victory at the Open Pairs of the Eastern narrows the gap between the two and places them far ahead of the balance of the field.

Mrs. Sobel plays a hand with the keenness of a fine mathematician, as demonstrated in today's hand.

Mrs. Sobel won the opening lead in dummy with the ace. When North dropped the singleton jack, she decided that North was probably long in trumps. She cashed the king of hearts, then continued low and finessed the jack. Then the ace of trumps dropped the queen.

The next lead was the six of diamonds, which South won with the queen. South led a club and dummy was in with the king. The ten of diamonds was cashed for a spade discard.

Mrs. Sobel still had to guess how to play the spades, but she decided to assume that North held the king, on the theory that "more finesses lose than win." She cashed the ace of spades and led the queen. Although North did not cover, East discarded a club. Then, since dummy's last trump would take care of East's remaining club loser, Mrs. Sobel was able to claim the rest, making the contract.

Italian Ships Seized by U. S.

This arrival of Newark, N. J., docks shows four of five Italian freighters tied up there just after U. S. Coast Guardsmen had boarded and seized them at the order of Secretary Morgenthau. Measures were taken to forestall further sabotage after engines and other machinery had been wrecked by crew. Note Coast Guard cutters in upper right corner, behind three tugs.

Soon after orders went out from Washington to seize an Italian possession of all Italian ships tied up in U. S. territory, three truckloads of soldiers and one of sailors boarded the 23,255-ton Italian liner Conte Biancamano, above, one of Italy's largest liners, at Balboa, Canal Zone.

Announces Special Easter Music Plans At 1st Presbyterian

At the First Presbyterian church announcement is made by Marcus Naylor, organist and choir-master, that he is planning three special musical events appropriate to the Easter season.

On Palm Sunday morning, April 6, the choir will take over the service and present a program of familiar choral works. The numbers will be:

Corneth Earth's Latest Hour from "Hera Novissima"—Parker.
Light of the World, from "Light of Life"—Elgar.

Trio: Praise Ye, from "Attila"—Verdi.
Unfold Ye Portals, from "Redemption"—Gounod.

Lamb of God, from "Hear Us Lord"—Sodermann.
The Heavens Are Telling, from "Creation"—Haydn.

Judge Me, O God—Mendelssohn.
Hallelujah, from "Mount of Olives"—Beethoven.

On Palm Sunday afternoon at four o'clock, Mr. Naylor will present an organ recital and will include several request numbers. These recitals are given once a month and are proving important events in Warren's musical circles.

A detailed program will be announced later in the week. The third program is on Easter Sunday morning, when the choir will use four more works of importance. They are:

Great is Jehovah—Schubert.
How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place—Brahms.

O Praise the Name of the Lord—Tschalkowski.
Hallelujah, from "The Messiah"—Handel.

The junior and senior choirs will sing "In Joseph's Lovely Garden", by Dickinson.

Lenten Tea Planned At Reformed Church

MATERNITY SUPERVISOR IS TO BE SPEAKER
The Twenty-One Club members of the Y. W. C. A. will meet at the activities building at 7:30 Thursday to hear Miss Frances Caniff, supervisor of the maternity ward at the Warren General Hospital. Each one attending is asked to bring knitting needles and yarn for making an afghan. The meeting will start promptly at 7:30 and all are asked to be on time.

WILLING WORKERS ENJOY MEETING
After attending the Lenten service in the church last evening, members of the Salem Evangelical Willing Workers Class held their regular meeting and program, with about 25 present. Mrs. Fred Rosentrater, president, was in charge. Much of the credit for the very entertaining evening was accorded Mrs. Casper Mader, chairman of the program committee, and her aides, Mrs. Arnold Flick and Mrs. Axel Tingwall.

The feature was a "hat promenade", members modeling their oldest millinery. Mrs. Emil Ris-tau had the honor of having the most fashionable and largest hat, and Miss Tekla Swanson, the smallest.

Afterwards there were games in which all participated and refreshments were served at tables decorated in the Easter manner. Plans were also discussed during the evening for the annual mother and daughter banquet to be held the first week in May.

Sunday Bowling Bill Fails To Pass House By Margin Of 7 Votes

Harrisburg, April 1.—(P)—Rep. Joseph P. O'Brien (D-Phila.) said today a new effort would be made in the legislature for approval of a bill to legalize Sunday bowling.

The measure fell seven votes short of the required 105 for passage in the House last night.

O'Brien, one of the backers of the measure, changed his vote from affirmative to negative at the conclusion of the roll call, when he saw the measure failed and thus gained the right under parliamentary procedure to call it up again.

"We still have a chance to have it passed," O'Brien said.

Debate waxed warm and long before the final vote which turned out 98 in favor of the bill and 96 against. The "Democrats" have a majority of 126 to 82. In house majority of 126 to 82. In house majority of 126 to 82. In house majority of 126 to 82.

Opposition within the Democratic bloc was expressed on the floor. Rep. Charles McFall (D-Northampton) declaring:

"There's a lot of things about lawmaking that don't make sense, and this is one of them. I would have been for this bill if there had been an opportunity for local communities to vote on it."

Rep. J. Howard French (D-Mifflin), in the first speech of his career, declared the measure was "whittling away the Sabbath" and though "I don't hope to influence a single vote by making a speech, I intend to vote against it."

"Destroy the Sabbath and you eventually will destroy civilization," said Rep. Herbert G. Gates (R-Armstrong).

Gates was asked by Rep. John J. Baker (D-Allegheny) if he played golf on Sunday, and replied tersely:

"I do not."

Rep. Frank J. Cullen (D-Phila.) said, "We in the metropolitan area don't have the time for recreation in the six weekdays."

"What is better for my children, to have them on the street corner doing nothing or have them in a bowling alley?" Cullen asked.

Among the types of farms recorded in the 1940 Census were lion and ostrich farms in Southern California.

SPRING ARRIVES IN HORSE RACE WORLD

Bowie, Md., April 1.—(P)—Spring, as the horse-racing world counts its seasons, officially began today—for today Bowie opened its 11-day spring meeting, first of the season in Maryland and the East.

Even the weatherman, seemed disposed to cooperate on opening day, promising springlike weather. A lightning-fast racing strip was in prospect for post time at 2 p. m.

It was a stake-less opening day, but that was offset by the fact that an eight-race program was being offered for the first time.

Topping the card was the $1,200 Bel Air purse, a five and a half furlong dash for three-year-olds, which drew nine overnight entries. They were Air Brigade, Clarksville, Rough Man, Cape Cod, Don Orfan, Fair Hero, Pete, Jr., Handy Tom and Yarn Spinner.

TRAINING CAMP NOTES

Los Angeles—Still boiling over about the Pirates' losing streak, Manager Frankie Frisch has ordered his boys to be up at eight a. m. daily and report at eight a. m. at 9:30 for workouts. Frisch was so peeved about Sunday's loss to the Chicago Cubs that he left the bench and went to right field, where he could say what he was thinking without being overheard.

Hollywood, Calif.—Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox is trying to pay Penny McCall, who hit the home run that gave the Sox a 1-0 victory over the Athletics, "the guy can hit," says Dykes, "and I'd like to have him. He can't play second base, as Connie Mack has found out, but he can play the outfield." The Sox need an outfielder badly.

Decatur, Ala.—In spite of a defeat yesterday, Ace Adams, 1940 Southern Association strikeout king, looks as if he'll be a mainstay of the New York Giants' reeling pitching corps this year. He had allowed only seven hits and one unearned run in nine innings before yesterday's appearance. The Cleveland Indians touched him for three hits in as many frames to score three times yesterday, but one run was due to a fielding error he made, and Ace marked up two strikeouts.

Los Angeles—Comic Mack plans to alter the Philadelphia Athletics' training schedule drastically next year. Instead of booking games nearly every day, Connie hopes to restrict playing dates mostly to week-ends, with occasional mid-week games. "I want at least two or three days a week open for practice in things that should be rehearsed," he explained. "Too many players get too little work with a game every day."

Last Night's Bouts

By the Associated Press

Chicago—Ossie (Bulldog) Harris, 162½, Pittsburgh, outpointed Nate Bolden, 160½, Chicago (10). Washington—Louis (Kid) Cocca, 147½, New Haven, Conn., outpointed Anne Jessurun, 153½, New York (10).

Pittsburgh—Harry Bobo, 203, Pittsburgh, stopped Paul Hartnek, 194, Minneapolis (8).

Lancaster, Pa.—Ken Overlin, 165, middleweight champion, New York, outpointed Harvey Massey, 162½, Brooklyn (10).

San Francisco—Vern Bybee, 129, Ogden, Utah, and Petey Scalzo, 130, N. B. A. featherweight champion, New York, drew (10 non-title).

Philadelphia—Mayon Padlo, 144½, Philadelphia, outpointed Savorio Turicello, 144½, Italy (8).

Fort Worth, Tex.—Joe McCarthy's "experiments" with the New York Yankees infield this spring seem to have been more than a little successful. When Joe Gordon, former second sacker, dropped a throw in the eighth inning yesterday it was his first error in more than 200 chances as a first baseman. Ted Phil Rizzuto, rookie shortstop, hit safely in his 15th consecutive game.

San Antonio, Tex.—The report persists in the Boston Bees' camp that Buddy Hassett may go to the New York Yankees, but Manager Casey Stengel won't comment. The story is that the Bees obtained Babe Dahlgren with the understanding the Yanks would get Hassett if he should be waived out of the National League.

Just two weeks from today Pennsylvania's disciples of Iz'ac Walton, and plenty of their out-of-state brethren, will begin a season of stream-whipping which will continue until July 31. The commission reports that more than 1,200,000 legal brook, brown and rainbow trout, some of them running well over a foot in length, have been distributed during the spring stocking schedule. The program, the largest on record, extends to virtually all major trout waters in the commonwealth and, owing to unfavorable weather last autumn, trout that would normally have been planted during the fall stocking program were held over at the hatcheries until late last month. Heavy snowfalls in this section bring the prospect of high water for the opening of the season, and that means that the "golden hackle" will probably be the favorite lure.

The Naismith Memorial Committee, in charge of the Golden Jubilee of Basketball, which will be celebrated during the 1941-42 season, has announced that Springfield, Mass., the cradle of the game, will be the focal point of the celebration. It was in December, 1891, that Dr. James Naismith tacked a peach basket to the gymnasium railing and posted the first rules of basketball in the gymnasium of the International Young Men's Christian Association Training School, now Springfield College. As most of you know, L. W. Archibald, of this city, then a student at Springfield, was among the lads who played in that first game. The memorial committee will erect a building which will house a basketball "Hall of Fame" that will be a depository for past, present and future basketball documents and records of the game. Another feature will be the enshrining of names of annual official all-American teams, selected by the sports writers of the country. The first major event of the program is the publication of Dr. Naismith's book, "Basketball—Its Origin and Development."

Sh! You want to know how come Abe Simon stayed so long with Joe Louis? The Bomber carried him! So says Bicycle Bob Pastor, who hung around for 22 rounds in a pair of fights with the champ, and since Simon is Pastor's stable mate, Robert should know. Says Harry Grayson: "Al McCoy in December, Red Burman in January, Gus Dorazio in February, Simon in March, Tony Musto in April, Louis April 8, Simon again in May, Billy Conn in June, a third edition with Pastor in Hollywood on July 14, an August printing without doubt, and the Max Baer-Lou Nova were a big thing." Yeah, but maybe Uncle Joe won't be developed by that time—we're still sure Pittsburgh William will stab himself into a title by summer. Pastor, however, thinks Conn will have the living daylight whaled out of him, on account of Louis' hatred for the Irishman. Bob points out that he and Louis were friendly, so he hung around a while, but the Bomber detested Schmeling, Baer and Galento and look what happened! Pastor admits he and Louis are pals, which, of course, won't affect their relations when they clash in Hollywood.

April 1, 1921.—A meeting is being held this afternoon between representatives of Kane and Warren basketball teams to arrange another meeting between the Nameless Five and Kane, with the same referee, here on April 13.

April 1, 1931.—The Notre Dame fighting spirit was completely crushed yesterday afternoon when news reached the campus that the great "Rock" had been killed in an airplane crash. Mrs. Rocke today received wires of sympathy from all over the world, including one from President Hoover, who described Rocke's death as "a national loss."

ABC SOLONS READY TO DISCUSS RULES

St. Paul, April 1.—(P)—Sixty officers and executive committee-men of the American Bowling Congress will go into session today discussing rules and regulations, which will come up for adoption at the 41st annual ABC convention Friday.

Another sell-out crowd is expected to pack the auditorium Wednesday when Harold Lloyd, movie comedian, and Ned Day, national match champion, swing into action. Lloyd, a 195-average bowler, will be receiving his ABC baptism. Day completed in the minor events early in the meet and is leading the doubles with Elmer Koch, Milwaukee. The pair scored 1,307.

Nelson Burton, St. Louis, created the major upset during yesterday's firing. He took second place in the all-events with 1,965, after having taken second place in the doubles paired with George Bohmeyer, with a 1,906 total—one pin out of the lead.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, April 1.—(The Special News Service)—Some of the Cubs are a bit piqued because the midnight curfew doesn't apply to Dizzy Dean. Atlanta has come through for Coach Bill Alexander by shifting from central to eastern time, which gives Georgia Tech another hour of football practice. Note to Van Mungo: One of the more reliable Broadway gossip columns says you'll be back with the Brooks, if you don't hoist another stein during the rest of the training season. Old Ty Cobb is in Augusta for the Masters tournament. Billy Conn turned down a $10,000, flicker offer from M-G-M because it would interfere with his tune-ups for Joe Louis.

Today's Guest Star

Gordon Cobblecluck, Cleveland Plain-Dealer: "Johnny Allen may regret the interview in which he commented on the Indians' pennant chances. The boys are getting their tonsils and adenoids in shape to ask John how it happened he always had a sore arm when the Yankees' Red Sox were in town last summer."

Busy Man's Newspaper

A wire brought bad news. Doctors have ordered C. L. (Boss) Parsons, sports editor of the Denver post and one of the best in the west, to a sea level location for an indefinite stay. (Keep on punching like you've been doing on the Post for 18 years, Boss).

About all the southern brethren can find out about Alabama football, authorized by Collier's, is that he looks like little Charlie Chaplin and wears spats—yep, spats—in Cullman, Ala. Nobody else would dare do that. Looks like the fight writers muffed one when they said Joe Louis was the first man to put Abe Simon on the deck. Big Jim Thompson did it in Pittsburgh. Mike Jacobs has issued his annual blast on beltz in the Garden. Just skip it—It's April Fool Day.

Very Tough Character

Headline: Dykes' riding making "Mad Russian" madder. On high-priced rookies, Dykes is tough. As Novikoff can hear and see, For Jimmy Dykes is quite as tough. As any man on the Zuyder Zee.

Caught On the Fly

Babe Dahlgren has won a membership in a Boston golf club for socking the first homer for the Bees. Dixie writers who have been watching Jim Braddock's comeback try say the old boy is gone for good—fat and soft from good living. Billy Herman is cold shoulder that talk about trading him to the Dodgers. Will someone kindly tell us how Rollins College manages to wind up with all those tennis stars from the coast? The Derby colony is growing at Churchill Downs, and more than 400 horses are training at Belmont Park for the Jamaica opening. "Sporting News" says Nick Altrock, Washington coach and comedian who fell out of a tree this winter, may never walk again.

Then And Now

Five years ago, only 23 men reported for football at the University of Louisville. The other day 20 came out for the backfield alone.

TKO IS SCORED BY BOBO IN GO WITH BOHEMIAN

Pittsburgh, April 1.—(P)—Harry Bobo, slugging 203-pound Pittsburgh negro, pounded his way to an eight-round technical knockout triumph last night over Paul Hartnek, 194, game Minneapolis Bohemian, who got up protesting after an eighth knockdown that he was able to continue. Hartnek, ranked 11th among the heavies by the N. B. A., surprised the fans in the seventh. He had been saved from a knockout by the bell in the sixth, but dashed in desperately and landed three hard rights to Bobo's jaw. The negro was shaken but recovered and the bell again saved his 23-year-old opponent from being counted out.

Ernie Derno, 143, of Minneapolis, won his 11th straight pro fight in beating Carmen Notch, 146, Pittsburgh veteran, in eight rounds. The visitor displayed a good left and mean right cross.

Charley Barley, 149, Pittsburgh negro, defeated Babe Symott, 148, New Englander, by a technical knockout in the fifth of their scheduled eight-rounder and Freddy Lenn, 163, Pittsburgh, won from Steve Morgan, 161, Youngstown, in six rounds.

Sunday Bowling Bill Fails To Pass House By Margin Of 7 Votes

Harrisburg, April 1.—(P)—Rep. Joseph P. O'Brien (D-Phila.) said today a new effort would be made in the legislature for approval of a bill to legalize Sunday bowling.

The measure fell seven votes short of the required 105 for passage in the House last night. O'Brien, one of the backers of the measure, changed his vote from affirmative to negative at the conclusion of the roll call, when he saw the measure failed and thus gained the right under parliamentary procedure to call it up again.

"We still have a chance to have it passed," O'Brien said.

Debate waxed warm and long before the final vote which turned out 98 in favor of the bill and 96 against. The Democrats have a house majority of 126 to 82. In their caucus, they decided against taking a party stand on the measure, leaving the decision up to each member.

Opposition within the Democratic bloc was expressed on the floor. Rep. Charles McFall (D-Northampton) declared:

"There's a lot of things about lawmaking that don't make sense, and this is one of them. I would have been for this bill if there had been an opportunity for local communities to vote on it."

Rep. J. Howard French (D-Mifflin), in the first speech of his career, declared the measure was "whittling away the Sabbath" and thought "I don't hope to influence a single vote by making a speech. I intend to vote against it."

"Destroy the Sabbath and you eventually will destroy civilization," said Rep. Herbert G. Gates (R-Armstrong). Gates was asked by Rep. John J. Baker (D-Allegheny) if he played golf on Sunday, and replied tersely:

"I do not."

Rep. Frank J. Cullen (D-Phila.) said, "We in the metropolitan area don't have the time for recreation in the six weekdays."

"What is better for my children, to have them on the street corner doing nothing or have them in a bowling alley?" Cullen asked.

SPRING ARRIVES IN HORSE RACE WORLD

Bowie, Md., April 1.—(P)—Spring, as the horse-racing world counts its seasons, officially began today—for today Bowie opened its 11-day spring meeting, first of the season in Maryland and the East.

Even the weatherman, seemed disposed to cooperate on opening day, promising springlike weather. A lightning-fast racing strip was in prospect for post time at 2 p. m.

It was a stake-less opening day, but that was offset by the fact that an eight-race program was being offered for the first time.

Topping the card was the $1200 Bel Air purse, a five and a half furlong dash for three-year-olds, which drew nine overnight entries. They were Air Brigade, Clarksville, Rough Man, Cape Cod, Don Orlan, Fair Hero, Pete, Jr., Handy Tom and Yarn Spinner.

TRAINING CAMP NOTES

By the Associated Press
Los Angeles—Still boiling over about the Pirates' losing streak, Manager Frankie Frisch has ordered his boys to be up at eight a. m. daily and report at the park at 9:30 for workouts. Frisch was so peeved about Sunday's loss to the Chicago Cubs that he left the bench and went to right field, where he could say what he was thinking without being overheard.

Hollywood, Calif.—Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox is trying to pry Benny McCoy from the Athletics. "The guy can hit," says Dykes, "and I'd like to have him. He can't play second base, as Connie Mack has found out, but he can play the outfield." The Sox need an outfielder badly.

Decatur, Ala.—In spite of a defeat yesterday, Ace Adams, 1940 Southern Association strikeout king, looks as if he'll be a mainstay of the New York Giants' relief pitching corps this year. He had allowed only seven hits and one unearned run in nine innings before yesterday's appearance. The three hits in as many frames to score three times yesterday, but one run was due to a fielding error he made, and Ace marked up two strikeouts.

Los Angeles—Connie Mack plans to alter the Philadelphia Athletics' training schedule drastically next year. Instead of booking games nearly every day, Connie hopes to restrict playing dates mostly to week-ends, with occasional mid-week games. "I want at least two or three days a week open for practice in things that should be rehearsed," he explained. "Too many players get too little work with a game every day."

Fort Worth, Tex.—Joe McCarthy's "experiments" with the New York Yankees' infield this spring seem to have been more than a little successful. When Joe Gordon, former second sacker, dropped a throw in the eighth inning yesterday it was his first error in more than 200 chances as a first baseman. Ted Phil Rizzuto, rookie shortstop, hit safely in his 15th consecutive game.

San Antonio, Tex.—The report persists in the Boston Bees' camp that Buddy Hassett may go to the New York Yankees, but Manager Casey Stengel won't comment. The story is that the Bees obtained Babe Dahlgren with the understanding the Yanks would get Hassett, if he should be waived out of the National League.

The Bum-of-the-Month Club has developed into a big thing." Yeah, but maybe Uncle Joe won't be around by that time—we're still sure Pittsburgh William will stab himself into a title by summer. Pastor, however, thinks Conn will have the living daylight whaled out of him, on account of Louis' hatred for the Irishman. Bob points out that he and Louis were friendly, so he hung around a while, but the Bomber detested Schmeling, Baer and Galento and look what happened! Pastor admits he and Louis are pals, which, of course, won't affect their relations when they clash in Hollywood.

YEARS AGO IN SPORT
April 1, 1921—A meeting is being held this afternoon between representatives of Kane and Warren basketball teams to arrange another meeting between the Nameless Five and Kane, with the same referee, here on April 13.

April 1, 1931—The Notre Dame fighting spirit was completely crushed yesterday afternoon when Notre Dame's Rockne today received wires of sympathy from all over the world, including one from President Hoover, who described Rockne's death as "a national loss."

ABC SOLONS READY TO DISCUSS RULES

St. Paul, April 1.—(P)—Sixty officers and executive committee-men of the American Bowling Congress will go into session today discussing rules and regulations, which will come up for adoption at the 41st annual ABC convention Friday.

Another sell-out crowd is expected to pack the auditorium Wednesday when Harold Lloyd, movie comedian, and Ned Day, national match champion, swing into action. Lloyd, a 195-average bowler, will be receiving his ABC baptism. Day competed in the minor events early in the meet and is leading the doubles with Elmer Koch, Milwaukee. The pair scored 1,307.

Nelson Burton, St. Louis, created the major upset during yesterday's final. He took second place in the all-events with 1,965, after having taken second place in the doubles paired with George Bobmeyer, with a 1,306 total—one pin out of the lead.

Sports Roundup

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, April 1.—(The Special News Service)—Some of the Cubs are a bit piqued because the midnight curfew doesn't apply to Dizzy Dean. . . . Atlanta has come through for Coach Bill Alexander by shifting from central to eastern time, which gives Georgia Tech another hour of football practice.

Note to Van Mungo: One of the more reliable Broadway gossip columns says you'll be back with the Brooks, if you don't hoist another stein during the rest of the training season. . . . Old Ty Cobb is in Augusta for the Masters' tournament. . . . Billy Conn turned down a $10,000, flicker offer from M-G-M because it would interfere with his tune-ups for Joe Louis.

Today's Guest Star

Gordon Cobbledick, Cleveland Plain-Dealer: "Johnny Allen may regret the interview in which he commented on the Indians' petting chances. . . . The boys are getting their tonsils and adenoids in shape to ask John how it happened he always had a sore when the Yankees or Red Sox were in town last summer."

Busy Man's Newspaper

A wire brought bad news. Doctors have ordered C. L. (Post) Parsons, sports editor of the Denver post and one of the best in the west, to a sea level location for an indefinite stay. (Keep on punching like you've been doing on the 16th Post for 18 years, Post.) . . . About all the southern brethren can find out about Bill Huie, who authored that Alabama football place in Collier's, is that he looks a little like Charlie Chaplin and wears spats—yep, spats—in Cullen. . . . Looks like the fight Joe Louis was the first man to put Abe Simon on the deck. Big Jim Thompson did it in Pittsburgh. . . . Mike Jacobs has issued his annual blast on betting in the Garden. . . . Just skip it—it's April Fool Day.

Very Tough Character

Headline: Dykes riding making "Mad Russian" madder. On high-priced rookies, Dykes is rough. . . . As Novikoff can hear and see, for Jimmy Dykes is quite as tough. . . . As any man on the Zuyder Zee. . . . Caught On the Fly. . . . Babe Dahlgren has won a membership in a Boston golf club for soaking the first homer for the Bees. . . . Dixie writers who have been watching Jim Braddock's comeback try say the old boy is gone for good—fast and soft from good living. . . . Billy Herman is cold shouldering that talk about trading him to the Dodgers. . . . Will someone kindly tell us how Rollins College manages to wind up with all those tennis stars from the coast? . . . The Derby colony is growing at Churchill Downs, and more than 400 horses are training at Belmont Park for the Jamaica opening. . . . "Sporting News" says Nick Altrock, Washington coach and comedian who fell out of a tree this winter, may never walk again.

Then And Now

Five years ago, only 23 men reported for football at the University of Louisville. . . . The other day 20 came out for the backfield alone.

Headline Headliner

New York's "PM" chronicled Bill Jurges' sensational return to form as follows: "Jurges—From Dizzy to Dazzling."

TKO IS SCORED BY BOBO IN GO WITH BOHEMIAN

Pittsburgh, April 1.—(P)—Harry Bobo, slugging 203-pound Pittsburgh negro, pounded his way to an eight-round technical knockout triumph last night over Paul Hartnek, 194, game Minneapolis Bohemian, who got up protesting after an eighth knockdown that he was able to continue. Hartnek, ranked 11th among the heavies by the N. E. A., surprised the fans in the seventh. He had been saved from a knockout by the bell in the sixth, but dashed in desperately and landed three hard rights to Bobo's jaw.

The negro was shaken but recovered and the bell again saved his 23-year old opponent from being counted out.

Ernie Derho, 143, of Minneapolis, won his 11th straight pro fight in beating Carmen Notch, 146, Pittsburgh veteran, in eight rounds. The visitor displayed a good left and mean right cross.

Charley Burley, 149, Pittsburgh negro, defeated Babe Synott, 148, New Englander, by a technical knockout in the fifth of their scheduled eight-rounder and Freddy Lenn, 63, Pittsburgh, won from Steve Morgan, 161, Youngstown, in six rounds.

ties stated, would greatly strengthen the aerial defenses of the Panama Canal by making it possible for the United States to shift air force reinforcements rapidly southward from this side of the Rio Grande if danger threatened the Canal Zone.

This new defense compact, officials said, is now ready for formal signing by representatives of the two governments, and will become operative once it has been ratified by Mexico's congress.

Under its terms, army and navy planes would be permitted to fly
the length of Mexico, utilizing Mexican air fields en route for refueling and repairs, and thus would be able to reach Panama in the shortest possible time.

The air fields understanding, negotiated by Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, and Francisco Castillo Najera, the Mexican ambassador, was considered of major importance since it puts
"teeth" in the recently signed U.
S.-Mexican general mutual defense pact.

The terms of the convention, it was learned, provide that:
The United States may utilize the Mexican route by giving the Mexican government due notice of the flight and the route to be taken.

American military planes may stop-over at any of the Mexican fields for 24 hours for refueling or repairs.

The Mexican government will provide any protection necessary against enemy attacks at the air fields in event of any emergency.

ed, and that two generals regarded as pro-German had been deprived of their commands.

(The same sources told of an anti-German demonstration at Maribor, near the old Austrian border, in which Yugoslavs distributed pamphlets saying "we will fight against Germany on England's side.")

The train on which Von Heeren departed for Berlin pulled out of the Belgrade station only eight minutes before the midnight deadline he had set for the departure of all German nationals.

Approximately 1,000 Germans were crowded aboard. The train was an hour late in leaving because of the strain on railway facilities caused by the frantic rush of persons of many nationalities seeking to flee the country.

Berlin, April 1.—(P)—Authorized sources for the first time declared themselves unable today to comment further on political events in Belgrade.

When asked whether this meant that the situation between Germany and Yugoslavia was hopeless, they said this did not follow but interpreted their remarks to mean, "there is nothing to add to what we have said on previous days because now a state has been reached in Yugoslavia when uncontrollable feelings of hate are uppermost, when inciters are doing their work, when men are murdered and women are beaten up, German nationalists and Volksdeutsche (German folk) are insulted and molested, when the whole country is in a state of turbulence."

Viktor VonHeeren, German minister who has been recalled from Belgrade, was expected to arrive
this afternoon to report.

The decision of the United States government to open a criminal investigation of this sabotage was taken as further evidence that the administration did not intend to relinquish possession of the ships, and that the protests of Rome and Berlin accordingly would be dismissed.

ALL ELECTRIC COOKING SCHOOL HERE THURSDAY

A capacity audience is expected to attend the Warren electric range dealers' cooking school Thursday afternoon at two o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. auditorium.

Most women will agree that cooking on one stove can be quite a problem, especially when the top of the range and oven, too, are filled with various kinds of food to be cooked.

Multiply that problem by five and you will have some idea of the task Miss Osborne, home economist of the Pennsylvania Electric Company, has agreed to take on during her demonstration Thursday afternoon.

Miss Osborne will prepare economy meals in the deep well cooker, complete oven meals, roast meats, bake bread, angel food cake, cream puffs, biscuits, etc.

All the food used in the demonstration will be given away to persons attending the school. There will also be other valuable gifts.

This is your opportunity to attend a new and different kind of all-electric cooking demonstration. Plan to be at the Y. W. C. A. on Thursday at 2 p. m. Bring along a friend or make up a party.

Barnes

Barnes, March 28—Mr. and Mrs. Myron Jolley and Miss Grace Jolley, of Warren, were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mac Martin, Saturday evening.

David Titus, who has been employed at Three Springs, Huntingdon county, for the past few years, is visiting his mother, Mrs. D. R. Titus, before being called into service for Uncle Sam.

George Irvine, Jr., is taking advantage of the night school being conducted at the Warren airport as part of the national defense program. He has passed his preliminary examinations and hopes to learn to fly.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Curtin attended the funeral of Thomas Fagan, which was held from his late home in Grand Valley Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Neal and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Neal, of Jamestown, N. Y., were Sunday guests at the home of their mother, Mrs. Harvey Neal.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burns celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their home Wednesday. They were married at Frewsburg, March 26th, 1891, and came to Barnes forty-two years ago.

Burns is not able to get around much so a large festivity was planned, but many friends from town and away called and extended their greetings and presented them with gifts in honor of the occasion. From out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hooker, of Bradford; Mrs. Elliott and Mr. Hackett, of Rev. Rev. Roswell, Mrs. John Keller and Lynn Keller, of Sheffield. George Conquer also came home from Bradford during the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoyer were guests of Mrs. Laura H. Barnes at Middleburgh over the weekend.

Mrs. Myron Alling entertained the Woman's Society for Christian Service of the local Methodist church at her home Thursday, for an all day's quilting and dinner. Mrs. Frank Byrne was assistant hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mac Martin entertained the officers and teachers of the local Methodist Sunday school at their home Wednesday evening for the regular monthly business and social meeting.

Commanding General Is Well Pleased With Progress Made by the 28th Division

Indianapolis, April 1.—(P)—Major General Edward Martin and his 13,500 Pennsylvania National Guardsmen in training here "are progressing very well indeed," he said, "in the opinion of Lieutenant General Hugh A. Drum, commander of the first army."

General Martin, highest ranking officer yet to visit this huge army reservation, said in an interview before leaving Harrisburg by plane today for Fort Meade, Md., that "You can tell the folks back home know that General Martin is taking fine care of his command."

From Fort Meade, General Drum will go to Wilmington, Del., Second Corps area headquarters and if weather permits will fly back to his headquarters at Governor's Island, N. Y., Wednesday. He flew over Indianopolis during his inspection of the camp here yesterday.

"It was a beautiful sight," he said, adding he had glimpsed something of the infantry, the artillery on range, the howitzer regiment, the 104th Cavalry, the 103rd Engineers, the schools.

"I was well pleased with everything I found," he said.

Of his impression of the camp personnel, General Drum had this to say:

"All the men—both officers and enlisted soldiers—struck me as being intensely interested in what they were doing. They were going at it with a serious approach."

TOT'S DRESS AND SUN-STYLE

Pattern 4698

By ANNE ADAMS
Is your small daughter clothes-ready for the sunshine months? Here's Anne Adams in the nick of time with Pattern 4693, which is shown in two useful versions. Notice all the clever details: the smartly pointed front waist-seam... the two front skirt panels... the center bodice section that curves in one piece right into the waistband. The cute little frock with its merrily scalloped neckline and crisply puffed sleeves may have contrasting sleeves and side bodice sections. The sun-dress is made by simply omitting the sleeves and the back and side bodice sections, cutting the front neckline straight, and adding back-buttoning straps. Panties are included in this kiddie pattern.

Pattern 4693 is available in children's sizes, 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6, sun-frock, takes 1 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric and 1 1/4 yards tie-back; frock 1 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric and 1 1/4 yards lace edging.

Pittsfield

Pittsfield, March 26—Miss Alice Sampson, Mrs. Mary B. McGraw, Mrs. Marian S. Trevis, teachers in the Pittsfield consolidated school, and Miss Lucy Anderson, Miss Anna Anderson and Mrs. John Rowland, of the Pittsfield Inn, entertained on Tuesday evening at a Silver Tea for the benefit of the Pittsfield Library.

Mrs. Maude Mead was the winner of the door prize and Mrs. Gladys Shellhouse won the contest prizes. All enjoyed the community sing led by Miss Alice Sampson with Miss Bowers at the piano. While all were gathered in the dining room Rev. Morton led the devotions.

Those sewing for the Red Cross at the home of Mrs. Summerson Tuesday afternoon completed five of the ten baby dresses. The other five dresses were taken out to be finished by Friday. Last week there were eleven children's dresses and four sweaters completed.

A goodly number of our young people attended the skating party at the roller rink at Youngsville Tuesday evening for the benefit of the eighth grade graduation.

Both the Brownies of Troop 48 and Scouts of Troop 28 are busy selling Girl Scout cookies.

At their meeting on Tuesday the Scouts continued with first aid, learning several different kinds of bandaging. They did good posture exercises with Mrs. Shellhouse as instructor. They are continuing with work on the dramatics badge.

At the birthday party held at the Y. W. C. A. in Warren the troop re-registered and turned in more yarn dolls and candle books and the Afghan made by the troop.

Mrs. Albin Abraham, Mrs. E. S. Thompson, Mrs. Melvin Teconchuk, Mrs. Melvin Bricelle and Mrs. Fred Freeman attended the

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It was good "duck" weather in Manhattan, with little sun and low, fast-flying clouds skimming the skyscraper spires... just the day for the sort of excursion I had in mind. So I got into a cab and went down to 501 Broadway, and for the next two or three hours I wandered through a maze of ancient, fascinating firearms—each with a history and a story to tell if it could only talk.

This is the dark-facaded, dim-lit, dusty establishment of Francis Bannerman Sons—dealers in military goods since 1865. After wars they buy up at auctions left-over guns, sabres, pistols, uniforms, all the trampled, discarded baggage of battle.

I SAW a pair of Green fulminating duelling pistols in a case, priced at $465. There were British flint-fowling pieces, ancient crossbows such as were used at Hastings; flintlock rampart guns; long black muzzle-loading rifles used at Green Mountain; Civil war cannons, saddles, sabres, six-shooters (cap and ball), bridles, canteens, cartridge belts.

I bought a cracked, blackened (with age and dirt) holster for a Colli-44 for $1.50. "You're not buying a holster," the man who waited on me said. "You're buying a relic."

If you know anything about guns, or merely if you like guns, you cannot imagine the satisfaction that comes with actually picking up and handling those ancient flintlock rifles that threw off clouds of black smoke as well as shot and which played their parts in the desperate birth of this country.

In one corner were "20 pounders"—Parrot muzzle-loading rifle cannon used by the U. S. navy 75 years ago. . . . There was 8-inch smooth-bore from the U. S. Frigate Wabash. These cannon weigh 6,550 pounds and were used

TAVERN DEATH

Scranton, April 1.—(P)—Detectives said today they were holding Leo Hapenny, 25, of Oneonta, N. Y., for questioning about the death of Daniel O'Connor, 43, who was fatally injured in a tavern altercation.

County Detective Joseph Del Vecchio said Hapenny would be given a hearing. Two doctors reported that O'Connor died of a heart ailment and that they could find no marks of violence.

There were bows and arrows from the savage tribes of the Congo, Turkish daggers, Oriental bladed weapons of every description, and one tiny little hand-pistol, found in China and perhaps one of the first pistols ever made, with a price tag of $500 on it.

Prussian, Russian, Belgian, French, English and Chinese swords they have in abundance. Some of the Revolutionary War swords have officer's initials engraved on the blade. Imagine grasping in your hand the blade carried by Marion the Swamp Fox!

HEAVY with dust and in tatters are battle flags from many hard fought fields. These are not for sale. It is a pity they are not under glass, rather than exposed to the ravages of changing temperatures.

Unarmed by temperature is a picturesque assortment of armor: antique Irish breastplates, dug up outside the walls near London-derry, and the breastplate that belonged to one of Cromwell's officers, Spanish, French, Scotch and Italian coats of mail. I spent several hours staring at this stuff, but one needs a day, nay, many days. There are signs all over the place requesting customers to refrain from handling the guns. . . . But who could resist reaching out and touching things like that? I couldn't, and nobody said anything to me.

THE POETS WERE RIGHT

BY PAUL BRAUNSCHWEIGER of the Mother Drug Co.

Poets have ascribed sleep as "Nature's sweetest restorer" and as the agent designed to "lift up the fallen sliver of care."

Any doctor is in complete agreement with the poets. As important as food, as refreshing as water, sleep is a necessity of wholesome living. A prime requisite for the adult, it is doubly important for the child who is growing into physical maturity.

Insomnia, if continued for a period of time, should be referred to a doctor. It is preventable.

Use no sedatives or soporifics unless prescribed by a physician. Have all prescriptions filled by a good druggist.

ALL ELECTRIC COOKING SCHOOL HERE THURSDAY

A capacity audience is expected to attend the Warren electric range dealers' cooking school, Thursday afternoon at two o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. auditorium.

Most women will agree that cooking on one stove can be quite a problem, especially when the top of the range and oven, too, are filled with various kinds of food to be cooked.

Multiply that problem by five and you will have some idea of the task Miss Osborne, home economist of the Pennsylvania Electric Company, has agreed to take on during her demonstration Thursday afternoon.

Miss Osborne will prepare economy meals in the deep well cooker, complete oven meals, roast meats, bake bread, angel food cake, cream puffs, biscuits, etc.

All the food used in the demonstration will be given away to persons attending the school. There will also be other valuable gifts.

This is your opportunity to attend a new and different kind of all-electric cooking demonstration. Plan to be at the Y. W. C. A. on Thursday at 2 p. m. Bring along a friend or make up a party.

Pittsfield

Pittsfield, March 26—Miss Alice Sampson, Mrs. Mary B. McGraw, Mrs. Marian S. Trevis, teachers in the Pittsfield consolidated school, and Miss Lucy Anderson, Miss Anna Anderson and Mrs. John Rowland, of the Pittsfield Inn, entertained on Tuesday evening at a Silver Tea for the benefit of the Pittsfield Library.

Mrs. Maude Mead was the winner of the door prize and Mrs. Gladys Shellhouse won the contest prizes. All enjoyed the community sing led by Miss Alice Sampson with Mith Bowers at the piano. While all were gathered in the dining room Rev. Morton led the devotions.

Those sewing for the Red Cross at the home of Mrs. Summerson Tuesday afternoon completed five of the ten baby dresses. The other five dresses were taken out to be finished by Friday. Last week there were eleven children's dresses and four sweaters completed.

A goodly number of our young people attended the skating party at the roller rink at Youngville Tuesday evening for the benefit of the eighth grade graduation.

Both the Brownies of Troop 48 and Scouts of Troop 28 are busy selling Girl Scout cookies.

At their meeting on Tuesday the Scouts continued with first aid, learning several different kinds of bandaging. They did good posture exercises with Mrs. Shellhouse as instructor. They are continuing with work on the dramatics badge.

At the birthday party held at the Y. W. C. A. in Warren the troop re-registered and turned in more yarn dolls and cambric books and the afghan made by the troop.

Mrs. Albin Abraham, Mrs. H. S. Thompson, Mrs. Metro Teconchuk, Mrs. Melvin Brezelle and Mrs. Fred Freeman attended the party given for the leaders by Warren County Council at the Y. W. C. A.

Harold Franklin was home from camp to spend the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Franklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Heath and son, Louis, of Fertigs, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wolbert and family.

The revival meetings are continuing through Friday night in the U. B. church, with Rev. Morton bringing the messages each evening and Rev. Maneval as song leader.

Rev. H. Markell, pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist church, announces that beginning on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and continuing until Easter there will be special services held in his church each evening at 7:30, with Rev. Walter Kopp, of Sandy Lake, as guest speaker and song evangelist.

The young people's meeting is held each Sunday evening in the church at 6:45 o'clock. Elwood Hannold was the leader at the meeting last Sunday.

TAVERN DEATH
Scranton, April 1—(P)—Detectives said today they were holding Leo Happenny, 25, of Oneonta, N. Y., for questioning about the death of Daniel O'Connor, 43, who was fatally injured in a tavern altercation.

County Detective Joseph Del Vecchio said Happenny would be given a hearing. Two doctors reported that O'Connor died of a heart ailment and that they could find no marks of violence.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It was good "duck" weather in Manhattan, N. Y., with little sun and low, fast-flying clouds skimming the skyscraper spires . . . just the day for the sort of excursion I had in mind. So I got into a cab and went down to 501 Broadway, and for the next two or three hours I wandered through a maze of ancient, fascinating firearms—each with a history and a story to tell if it could only talk.

This is the dark-facaded, dim-lit, dusty establishment of Francis Bannerman Sons—dealers in military goods since 1865. After wars they buy up at auctions leftover guns, sabres, pistols, uniforms, all the trampled, discarded baggage of battle.

I SAW a pair of Green fulminating duelling pistols in a case, priced at $465. There were British flint fowling pieces, ancient cross-bows such as were used at Hastings, flintlock rampart guns; long black muzzle-loading rifles used at Green Mountain; Civil war cannons, saddles, sabres, six-shooters (cap and ball), blades, canteens, cartridge belts.

I bought a cracked, blackened (with age and dirt) holster for a Colt-44 for $1.50. "You're not buying a holster," the man who waited on me said, "You're buying a relic."

If you know anything about guns, or merely if you like guns, you cannot imagine the satisfaction that comes with actually picking up and handling those ancient flintlock rifles that threw off clouds of black smoke as well as shot and which played their parts in the desperate birth of this stuff.

In one corner were "20 pounders"—Parrot muzzle-loading rifle cannon used by the U. S. navy 75 years ago. . . . There was 8-inch smooth-bore from the U. S. Frigate Wabash. These cannon weigh 6,550 pounds and were used in blockading southern ports during the Civil War.

There were bows and arrows from the savage tribes of the Congo, Turkish daggers, Oriental blades weapons of every description, and one tiny little hand-pistol, found in China and perhaps one of the first pistols ever made, with a price tag of $500 on it. Prussian, Russian, Belgian, French, English and Chinese swords they have in abundance. Some of the Revolutionary War swords have officer's initials engraved on the blade. Imagine grasping in your hand the blade carried by Marion the Swamp Fox!

HEAVY with dust and in tatters are battle flags from many hard fought fields. These are not for sale. It is a pity they are not under glass, rather than exposed to the ravages of changing temperatures.

Unharned by temperature is a picturesque assortment of armor: antique Irish breastplates, dug up outside the walls near Londonderry, and the breastplate that belonged to one of Cromwell's officers. Spanish, French, Scotch and Italian coats of mail. I spent several hours staring at this stuff, but one needs a day, nay, many days. There are signs all over the place requesting customers to refrain from handling the guns. . . . But who could resist reaching out and touching things like that? I couldn't, and nobody said anything to me.

THE POETS WERE RIGHT

BY PAUL BRUNSCHWEIGER
Of The Mullen Drug Co.

Poets have apostrophized sleep as "Nature's sweet restorer" and as the agent designed to "knit up the raveled sleeve of Care."

Any doctor is in complete agreement with the poets. As important as food, as refreshing as water, sleep is a necessity of wholesome living. A prime requisite for the adult, it is doubly important for the child who is growing into physical maturity.

Insomnia, if continued for a period of time, should be referred to a doctor. It is preventable.

Use no sedatives or soporifics unless prescribed by a physician. Have all prescriptions filled by a good druggist.
